

Help in meeting your patients' testing needs in these challenging times

Quest Diagnostics now offers special VIP-level access for your vulnerable, immunocompromised patients. The new Peace of Mind program enables them to get the non-COVID-19 lab testing they need in a clean environment that's designed to minimize patient's interactions.

With over 2,250 Patient Service Centers (PSCs) across the country, our online appointment finder makes it easy and convenient for you and your patients to find the closest PSC location. Quest Diagnostics PSCs offer ease of scheduling, professional staff, and settings that take into account individual patient needs.

Through this new program, immunocompromised patients and others that have increased risk of unfavorable outcomes from COVID-19 have special access to our PSCs during the first hour of each day.

When in-office testing is not an option, your local Quest Diagnostics PSCs can provide the testing that you and your at-risk patients need.

Additional safety measures at our PSCs to protect the health of your patients include:

- Staffing entrances at many locations to limit the number of surfaces, such as door handles, that a patient would need to touch
- Where available, providing hand-buzzers to patients after they register, allowing them to return to their vehicles until they are buzzed for their appointment
- Fostering social distancing by limiting the number of chairs in PCSs
